

LARGE CROWD GREETS TENER BOOMERS ON THEIR ARRIVAL HOME FROM HARRISBURG

FAYETTE COUNTY GETS ANNUAL SUMMER MEETING OF COAL MINING INSTITUTE

TIRED, HOARSE, BUT HAPPY PARTY COMES IN AT THE SCHEDULED TIME

Too Much Charleroi For Mr. Murphy, Who to Save His Own Scalp Withdraws in Plenty of Time Before Convention

Flushed with victory and bearing laurels for Charleroi, the train-load of boomers, who went to Harrisburg Tuesday to work and shout for their townsman, John K. Tener for the Republican nomination for Governor, returned at 10:30 last night. Word had been wired ahead of the time the train was likely to arrive, and when the special approached the town the engineer announced its presence by tooting the whistle all the way from North Charleroi.

An immense crowd was at the station, and the Barkoot carnival band struck up an air of victory as the boomers alighted amid tremendous cheering. The excursionists tried to respond and assist in the enthusiasm, but all were too hoarse to make much noise and they soon dispersed to their homes, tired, hot and travel stained, but withal happy over the nomination of Congressman John K. Tener for Governor of Pennsylvania.

It was a pleasurable jaunt and the bunch was composed of a representative crowd of people from Charleroi and up and down the river, embracing business and professional men and others of the world's best workers. The Washington county delegation included nearly the whole roster of county officials and many of the legal fraternity and prominent business men of the county seat, headed by Judge J. F. Taylor, who made the nominating speech in placing Mr. Tener's name before the convention. It was the presence of this delegation at Harrisburg and the enthusiasm the members displayed, that caused the withdrawal of the last vestige of opposition to Mr. Tener as the standard bearer of the Republican party.

Mr. Tener's appreciation of the support given him by his neighbors and friends was commented upon by the people of Harrisburg and the big corps of special newspaper men present. When it became known that each member of the delegation had paid his own fare and expenses of the trip, the amazement of the assembled hosts knew no bounds, and more confidence than ever was expressed in the strength of Mr. Tener's candidacy.

After the Charleroi and Washington county bunch had stirred things up in the old town of Harrisburg in the afternoon, Lieutenant Governor Murphy threw up his hands and announced that he was out of the running for the nomination for Governor. It was another case of "don't shoot, Mr. Crockett, I'll come down." The absence of all opposition took some of the ginger out of the demonstration later in the evening, as the boys were full of fight and were anxious to try their metal. However, they made a big noise, and showed the people of Harrisburg and the visiting delegates that Charleroi was on the map.

All were on hand at the convention, and when Mr. Tener's name was presented without opposition all were satisfied. Mr. Tener was at the station to bid his delegation farewell and previous to his departure yesterday for the National capital, said:

"I appreciate most highly the honor which has been conferred upon me by the convention which just adjourned. Next to being nominated for the Presidency of the United States to be selected as the standard bearer of the Republican party in Pennsylvania is the greatest honor which can come to a member of that party in the State. I shall stand squarely upon the platform which was adopted today."

The admirable service of the special train of Pullmans and the efforts of the Pennsylvania Railroad company was highly appreciated by the tourists. With the delegation were Station Agent E. F. Krahmer, W. G. Wheeler of the passenger department, and Detective J. A. Henderson, who did all in their power to make the passengers comfortable. The local committee composed of R. H. Rush, J. E. Masters, W. R. Gaut, W. W. Jameson, S. C. Todd and others also received the gratitude of the delegation for their efforts. The Repasz 12th Regiment band of Williamsport had been engaged by the Charleroi delegation. This is one of the best bands in the State and gave dignity and tone to the demonstration.

The Pullman conductor paid the bunch a compliment by stating that it was the most orderly and best behaved political crowd he had ever hauled from Pittsburg to the State capital.

ALL GAMES OF CHANCE STOPPED BY CHIEF

In accordance with his declaration made yesterday morning Chief of Police C. W. Albright had all games of chance operated in connection with the carnival closed down here last night, and everything in such shape that the most radical person could not complain. Even the cane racks were closed. County Detective William McCleary was in town last night to look things over and complimented Chief Albright on the order being maintained. But four arrests were made last night, all for drunkenness.

FOUL PLAY FEARED IN DEATH OF MAN FOUND ALONG RIVER SHORE

The body of L. Stidle of Allegheny was found in the Monongahela river below the Peanut mine at Webster, by Grover Trich of Donora Tuesday it having been there apparently but a few hours. Stidle was seen in Donora Monday night about 8 o'clock and was sober. He had no money or valuables in his pockets and foul play is suspected for the reason that when found his hat was on the river bank close to the spot where the body was found. Bruises on his face and body indicate that he apparently slipped on the rocks into the water.

He is survived by a wife and his mother, Mrs. Mary Stidle of Lowney street, Allegheny.

He was in the employ of the Woolson Spice company of Toledo, O., and had a number of girls working for him selling Korex coffee in Donora. The coroner has been notified and will investigate the case.

SCHOOL TO START LAST OF AUGUST

The School Board last night at an adjourned meeting set the time for the opening of the schools a week earlier than in many other places, in order to make the term close sooner. Last year the term was started the last Monday in August.

Miss Beatrice Chapman of Bradford was elected principal of the North street building.

METHODISTS SHOW UP THE EPISCOPALS BY 13 TO 3 SCORE

The Methodists took over the Episcopalists in a way that the latter team will not soon forget last night, the score, when the smoke rolled away being 13 to 3. The Episcopalists furnished the Methodists with timely assistance, contributing 14 errors. However the game was a good one, despite one or two bad innings. The Episcopalists started off well, getting two scores in the first. They got another in the third and stopped. The Methodists scored three in the second, and seven in the third. One happened in the fifth and two in the seventh. The score:

GIRLS ON WAY HOME ATTACKED

While crossing the Monessen-Charleroi bridge about 10:30 o'clock on their way home to Monessen Monday night, three young women were held up and one brutally attacked by two men. The girls were Maty Hornick, Annie Andrick of Rostraver, and Katie Babrick of Wireton. They were returning home from attending the carnival at Charleroi. When the young women were accosted, they ran but Maty Hornick fell behind and was overtaken. She was dragged into a clump of bushes where she was attacked. The other young women ran on, and notified the Monessen police, who when they arrived were unable to locate the men. The girl was found, and taken home, where she has been under the care of a physician ever since.

SPEECH OF JUDGE TAYLOR PRESENTING NAME OF MR. TENER

As previously stated Judge J. F. Taylor of Washington presented Congressman John K. Tener's name to the Republican State convention at Harrisburg yesterday as candidate for Governor. Judge Taylor said in part: "Leaving the labor of the mill, retiring from the modern marathon and active participation in the athletics of the diamond field, there came into this valley of industrial activity a few years since a strapping, stalwart young man, in stature over six feet, clean and keen of intellect, courageous of heart and strong of arm and determination, seeking a new field of opportunity for the employment of his resistless energies. He located in the Magic City of Charleroi, then building and established for himself a home and engaged in banking and other pursuits incident to the business of this new town. Its projector and promoter mid the weight of this work and its responsibilities fell in death before its completion. In casting about for a worthy successor upon whom his mantle might fall, by consent, the people turned to and selected this young man. Due largely to his thought direction and executive abilities the Magic City of Charleroi is now the pride of this industrial valley.

"In 1905 in recognition of his abilities to direct and do, together with his manly bearing, the free men of the Twenty-fourth Congressional District elected him to Congress and there he did so well behave himself that a few days ago he was renominated for a second term. Among his neighbors and acquaintances and those who know him best he is called "Popular John" and "Honest John" but the name by which we present this young man to you for nomination for the next Governor of this great Commonwealth and whom I nominate for the same, is the Honorable John K. Tener of Charleroi, citizen and resident of Washington county, named for the father of our common country."

TWO DAYS SESSION WILL BE HELD AT UNIONTOWN BEGINNING NEXT TUESDAY

Discussion of Mines and Mining Will Feature Program—Charleroi Man One of Vice Presidents

Upon invitation of the Independent Coke Producers Association, the summer meeting of the Coal Mining Institute of America will be held at Uniontown June 28 and 29. The opening session will be at 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning, when the presidential address will be made by Pres. H. H. Stock of Urbana, Ill., on "Coal Mining in Illinois." The various reports will be made Tuesday morning.

In the afternoon Tuesday will follow the discussion of the report to be made in the morning by the committee on constitution, and an address will be made by Sion B. Smith, Esq., of Pittsburg on "Legal Responsibility of Employer and Employees." A banquet will be held in the evening, and Fred C. Keightly of Uniontown will be the toastmaster. The addresses on the program will be by Peter Roberts, Ph. D., of New York on "Education of English-Speaking Miners," A. W. Calloway of Punxsutawney and Inspector I. G. Roby of Uniontown.

Wednesday morning's session will resolve itself into a discussion of "Mine Layouts," led by W. E. Fohl, Pittsburg, and addresses by W. M. Judd of Pittsburg, on "Mining Towns and Mining Houses," and H. N. Fitch of Breeta, W. Va., on "The Systematic Handling, Disbursement and Accounting of Mine Supplies." An excursion to Continental Coke Plant No. 1 of the H. C. Frick Coke company will be a feature of the afternoon, and as this plant is one of the most modernly equipped coking plants in the world, the excursion should be of special interest.

The President of the Coal Mining Institute of America is H. H. Stock of Urbana, Ill., and the vice presidents are Mine Inspector F. W. Cunningham of Charleroi, A. W. Calloway of Punxsutawney and Samuel A. Taylor of Pittsburg. Mr. Cunningham is also a member of the executive board.

WILL PREACH TO CONVICTS AT PEN SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Rev. C. S. Joshua, the pastor of the First Baptist church has made arrangements to preach Sunday afternoon in the Western penitentiary, near Pittsburg, to the convicts there. He will occupy a Pittsburg pulpit in the evening. Mrs. Joshua will preach in Welsh at a Pittsburg Welsh church Sunday.

CALIFORNIA NORMAL WILL PLAY ALUMNI IN THEIR LAST GAME

The baseball season at the California Normal will be brought to a close Tuesday, June 28, during commencement week, by a game with the alumni. This year's team, although made up largely of new men, made a first rate record, and while losing more games than it won, such defeats as 3-2 at the hands of W. and J. and 2-1 by Westminster speak for themselves. Among the games won the 3-2 victory over Grove City college and the notable ten inning struggle with the strong Pittsburg College, nine, ending 5-3 in favor of the Normal, deserve special mention.

The Alumni team for the game of the 28th will be selected from among such "grads" as Lewellyn, Tobin, McPhail, "Bull" McCleary, Dave Smith, Burns, Sprowls, Welty, Binns, Denny, Cree, Gray, Carson, Snyder, Duval, Callahan, McClure, "Tillie" Dewar, Jones, Bittner, Drum, and others.

An interesting game is expected, which will be well attended on account of its being played at commencement time.

Tener the Man

Of all the tributes paid to Congressman John K. Tener since his nomination as the Republican candidate for Governor was assured, none will appeal more to the people of Charleroi and to all who know Mr. Tener than the "study at close range of the next Governor of Pennsylvania," by Morgan E. Gable, staff correspondent of the Pittsburgh Gazette Times. Mr. Gable, who is one of the ablest newspaper men of Pittsburgh, and in the whole State for that matter, was formerly managing editor of the old Pittsburgh Times when that paper was at its best. Concerning Mr. Tener, who is characterized as "looming large in every way," Mr. Gable says in part:

"In room 121 of the old Lochiel he received incoming delegations and party men from all over the State. Some there have been who feared that perhaps this man was too little known to the general public to undertake the difficult and responsible position of executive of the Commonwealth. These were astonished to find that he has an acquaintanceship which is as broad as the State. Others feared that he might be failing in that indefinable quality which is most expressively described by the much abused term of 'a good mixer.' These found that he was there with the presence, with the hand clasp, the smile and the geniality of greeting which are among the appraisable assets of political popularity. Still others felt that the unobtrusive demeanor which is native to Mr. Tener might impress his callers with the idea that he lacked that degree of assertiveness and individual fire that is necessary to the prosecution of an aggressive campaign and the execution of large duties. These discovered that those massive shoulders of his carried a head in which there was the only sovereignty recognized by American citizenship—that of upstanding manhood, of capacity, of vim, of strength and of principle.

"One thing must be said of John Tener in all candor. There is no artificiality about him. He poses not, neither does he push and he makes no attempt to increase the visible or audible supply of hot air. So if asked what more than anything else is written in Mr. Tener's face, manner and mentality, I should say that it is sincerity. You see at once that he is purposeful and that he is not out to make a toy of the Governorship or to strike an untrue note in his relations with the public.

"More than one man as he withdrew from the reception parlor was heard to remark enthusiastically concerning Mr. Tener's personality and bearing. It appears the idea had gone abroad that he was merely the creature of fortuitous political conditions and the beneficiary of good luck, without any contributory qualifications or attributes of his own. This misconception is one of the penalties of party regularity. It is unfortunate for the man concerned, but not his fault and it cannot change his mental and moral make-up or take one cubit from his stature. Yet not infrequently the public is deceived and sometimes the well-meaning are misled into a course of opposition.

"That is how it came about that many hundreds of men from all over Pennsylvania were so easily converted into red-hot Tener men and will go home prepared to fight for him, throughout the campaign. For the nomination of Tener marks a departure in the Republican politics of the State. It means the introduction of new blood at the top. For many years State tickets usually have contained the names of men most familiar, of men long in official life or public service, until it must have seemed sometime as if honors ran in a circle, which, though narrowed now and then by death, was seldom expanded by the introduction of budding ambitions or the development of new potentialities. Mr. Tener, to be sure, by reason of his years, can no longer—in spite of his youthful appearance—claim to be in the boy wonder class. Yet he is young in public life and has had but a brief career in statecraft and legislative experience, and so will be accounted as representing the participation of another generation in the government of the State and the further building of the Commonwealth."

An adjourned meeting of the Business Men's Association will be held this evening at the rooms in the Kirk and Clark building. Unfinished business will be taken up.

LARGE CROWD GREETS TENER BOOMERS ON FAYETTE COUNTY GETS ANNUAL SUMMER THEIR ARRIVAL HOME FROM HARRISBURG MEETING OF COAL MINING INSTITUTE

TIRED, HOARSE, BUT HAPPY PARTY COMES IN AT THE SCHEDULED TIME

Too Much Charleroi For Mr. Murphy, Who to Save His Own Scalp Withdraws in Plenty of Time Before Convention

Flushed with victory and bearing, Presidency of the United States to be secured for Charleroi, the train-load of boomers, who went to Harrisburg Tuesday to work and shout for their townsman, John K. Tener for the Republican nomination for Governor, returned at 10:30 last night. Word had been wired ahead of the time the train was likely to arrive, and when the special approached the town the engineer announced its presence by tooting the whistle all the way from North Charleroi.

An immense crowd was at the station, and the Barkoot carnival band struck up an air of victory as the boomers alighted amid tremendous cheering. The excursionists tried to respond and assist in the enthusiasm, but all were too hoarse to make much noise and they soon dispersed to their homes, tired, hot and travel stained, but withal happy over the nomination of Congressman John K. Tener for Governor of Pennsylvania.

It was a pleasurable jaunt and the bunch was composed of a representative crowd of people from Charleroi and up and down the river, embracing business and professional men and others of the world's best workers. The Washington county delegation included nearly the whole roster of county officials and many of the local fraternity and prominent business men of the county seat, headed by Judge J. F. Taylor, who made the nominating speech in placing Mr. Tener's name before the convention. It was the presence of this delegation at Harrisburg and the enthusiasm the members displayed, that caused the withdrawal of the last vestige of opposition to Mr. Tener as the standard bearer of the Republican party.

Mr. Tener's appreciation of the support given him by his neighbors and friends was commented upon by the people of Harrisburg and the big corps of special newspaper men present. When it became known that each member of the delegation had paid his own fare and expenses of the trip, the amazement of the assembled hosts knew no bounds, and more confidence than ever was expressed in the strength of Mr. Tener's candidacy.

After the Charleroi and Washington county bunch had stirred things up in the old town of Harrisburg in the afternoon, Lieutenant Governor Murphy threw up his hands and announced that he was out of the running for the nomination for Governor. It was another case of "don't shoot, Mr. Crockett, I'll come down." The absence of all opposition took some of the ginger out of the demonstration later in the evening, as the boys were full of fight and were anxious to try their metal. However, they made a big noise, and showed the people of Harrisburg and the visiting delegates that Charleroi was on the map.

All were on hand at the convention, and when Mr. Tener's name was presented without opposition all were satisfied. Mr. Tener was at the station to bid his delegation farewell and previous to his departure yesterday for the National capital, said: "I appreciate most highly the honor which has been conferred upon me by the convention which just adjourned. Next to being nominated for the

In accordance with his declaration made yesterday morning Chief of Police C. W. Albright had all games of chance operated in connection with the carnival closed down here last night, and everything in such shape that the most radical person could not complain. Even the cane racks were closed. County Detective William McCleary was in town last night to look things over and complimented Chief Albright on the order being maintained. But four arrests were made last night, all for drunkenness.

METHODISTS SHOW UP THE EPISCOPALS BY 13 TO 3 SCORE

The Methodists took over the Episcopalians in a way that the latter team will not soon forget last night, the score, when the smoke rolled away being 13 to 3. The Episcopalians furnished the Methodists with timely assistance, contributing 14 errors. However the game was a good one, despite one or two bad innings. The Episcopalians started off well, getting two scores in the first. They got another in the third and stopped. The Methodists scored three in the second, and seven in the third. One happened in the fifth and two in the seventh. The score:

GIRLS ON WAY HOME ATTACKED

While crossing the Monessen-Charleroi bridge about 10:30 o'clock on their way home to Monessen Monday night, three young women were held up and one brutally attacked by two men. The girls were Maty Hornick, Annie Andrick of Rostraver, and Katie Babrick of Wireton. They were returning home from attending the carnival at Charleroi. When the young women were accosted, they ran but Mary Hornick fell behind and was overtaken. She was dragged into a clump of bushes where she was attacked. The other young women ran on, and notified the Monessen police, who when they arrived were unable to locate the men. The girl was found, and taken home, where she has been under the care of a physician ever since.

SPEECH OF JUDGE TAYLOR PRESENTING NAME OF MR. TENER

As previously stated Judge J. F. Taylor of Washington presented Congressman John K. Tener's name to the Republican State convention at Harrisburg yesterday as candidate for Governor. Judge Taylor said in part: "Leaving the labor of the mill, retiring from the modern marathon and active participation in the athletics of the diamond field, there came into this valley of industrial activity a few years since a strapping, stalwart young man, in stature over six feet, clean and keen of intellect, courageous of heart and strong of arm and determination, seeking a new field of opportunity for the employment of his restless energies. He located in the Magic City of Charleroi, then building and established for himself a home and engaged in banking and other pursuits incident to the business of this new town. Its projector and promoter and the weight of this work and its responsibilities fell in death before its completion. In casting about for a worthy successor upon whom his mantle might fall, by consent, the people turned to and selected this young man. Due largely to his thought direction and executive abilities the Magic City of Charleroi is now the pride of this industrial valley.

"In 1903 a recognition of his abilities as a leader, together with his manly bearing, the free men of the Twenty fourth Congressional District elected him to Congress and there he did so well behave himself that a few days ago he was re-nominated for a second term. Among his neighbors and acquaintances and those who know him best he is called 'Popular John' and 'Honest John' but the name by which we present this young man to you for nomination for the next Governor of this great Commonwealth and whom I nominate for the same, is the Honorable John K. Tener of Charleroi, citizen and resident of Washington county, named for the father of our common country."

TWO DAYS SESSION WILL BE HELD AT UNIONTOWN BEGINNING NEXT TUESDAY

Discussion of Mines and Mining Will Feature Program—Charleroi Man One of Vice Presidents

Upon invitation of the Independent Coal Producers Association, the summer meeting of the Coal Mining Institute of America will be held at Uniontown June 28 and 29. The opening session will be at 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning, when the presidential address will be made by Pres. H. H. Stok of Urbana, Ill., on "Coal Mining in Illinois." The various reports will be made Tuesday morning.

In the afternoon Tuesday will follow the discussion of the report to be made in the morning by the committee on constitution, and an address will be made by Son B. Smith, Esq., of Pittsburg on "Legal Responsibility of Employer and Employees." A banquet will be held in the evening, and Fred C. Keightly of Uniontown will be the toastmaster. The addresses on the program will be by Peter Roberts, W. Calloway of Puncutawney and Inspector I. G. Roby of Uniontown.

Wednesday morning's session will reserve itself into a discussion of "Mine Layouts," led by W. E. Fohl, Pittsburg, and addresses by W. M. Judd of Pittsburg, on "Mining Towns and Mining Houses," and H. N. Fitch of Breta, W. Va., on "The Systematic Handling, Disbursement and Accounting of Mine Supplies." An excursion to Continental Coke Plant No. 1 of the H. C. Frick Coke company will be a feature of the afternoon, and as this plant is one of the most modernly equipped coking plants in the world, the excursion should be of special interest.

The President of the Coal Mining Institute of America is H. H. Stock of Uabaha, Ill., and the vice presidents are Mine Inspector F. W. Cunningham of Charleroi, A. W. Gallio, Ph. D., of New York on "Education of English-Speaking Miners," A. Taylor of Pittsburg. Mr. Cunningham is also a member of the executive board.

WILL PREACH TO CONVICTS AT PEN SUNDAY AFTERNOON

CALIFORNIA NORMAL WILL PLAY ALUMNI IN THEIR LAST GAME

The baseball season at the California Normal will be brought to a close Tuesday, June 28, during commencement week, by a game with the alumni. This year's team, although made up largely of new men, made a first rate record, and while losing more games than it won, such defeats as 3-2 at the hands of W. and J. and 2-1 by Westminster speak for themselves. Among the games won the 3-2 victory over Grove City college and the notable ten inning struggle with the strong Pittsburg College, nine, ending 5-3 in favor of the Normal, deserve special mention.

The Alumni team for the game of the 28th will be selected from among such "grads" as Lewellyn, Tobin, McPhail, "Bull" McCleary, Dave Smith, Burns, Sprowls, Welty, Binney, Denny, Cree, Gray, Carson, Snyder, Duval, Callahan, "Cicure, "Tilley" Dewar, Jones, Bittner, Drum and others.

An interesting game is expected, which will be well attended on account of its being played at commencement time.

Tener the Man

Of all the tributes paid to Congressman John K. Tener since his nomination as the Republican candidate for Governor was assured, none will appeal more to the people of Charleroi and to all who know Mr. Tener than the "study at close range of the next Governor of Pennsylvania," by Morgan E. Gable, staff correspondent of the Pittsburgh Gazette Times. Mr. Gable, who is one of the ablest newspaper men of Pittsburgh, and in the whole State for that matter, was formerly managing editor of the old Pittsburgh Times when that paper was at its best. Concerning Mr. Tener, who is characterized as "looming large in every way," Mr. Gable says in part:

"In room 121 of the old Lochiel he received incoming delegations and party men from all over the State. Some there have been who feared that perhaps this man was too little known to the general public to undertake the difficult and responsible position of executive of the Commonwealth. These were astonished to find that he has an acquaintance which is as broad as the State. Others feared that he might be failing in that indefinable quality which is most expressive, described by the much abused 'ex' of 'a good mixer.' These round that he was there with the presence, with the hand clasp, the smile and the geniality of greeting which are among the appraisable assets of political popularity. Still others felt that the inobtrusive demeanor which is native to Mr. Tener might impress his callers with the idea that he lacked that degree of assertiveness and individual fire that is necessary to the prosecution of an aggressive campaign and the execution of large duties. These discovered that those massive shoulders of his carried a head in which there was the only sovereignty recognized by American citizenship—that of upstanding manhood, of capacity, of vim, of strength and of principle.

"One thing must be said of John Tener in all candor. There is no artificiality about him. He poses not, neither does he push and he makes no attempt to increase the visible or audible supply of hot air. So if asked what more than anything else is written in Mr. Tener's face, manner and mentality, I should say that it is sincerity. You see at once that he is purposeful and that he is not out to make a toy of the Governorship or to strive an untrue note in his relations with the public.

"More than one man as he with-seen from the reception parlor was heard to remark enthusiastically concerning Mr. Tener's personality and bearing. It appears the idea had gone abroad that he was merely the creature of fortuitous political conditions and the beneficiary of good luck, without any contributory qualifications or attributes of his own. This misconception is one of the penalties of party regularity. It is unfortunate for the man concerned, but not his fault and it cannot change his mental and moral make-up or take one cubit from his stature. Yet not infrequently the public is deceived and sometimes the well-meaning are misled into a course of opposition.

"That is how it came about that many hundreds of men from all over Pennsylvania were so easily converted into red hot Tener men and will go home prepared to fight for him throughout the campaign. For the nomination of Tener marks a departure in the Pennsylvania political scene. It means the introduction of new blood at the top. For many years State tickets usually have contained the names of men most familiar, of men long in official life or public service, until it must have seemed sometime as if honors ran in a circle, which, though narrowed now and then by death, was seldom expanded by the introduction of budding ambitions or the development of new potentialities. Mr. Tener, to be sure, by reason of his years, can no longer—in spite of his youthful appearance—claim to be in the boy wonder class. Yet he is young in public life and has had but a brief career in statecraft and legislative experience, and so will be accounted as representing the participation of another generation in the government of the State and the further building of the Commonwealth."

An adjourned meeting of the Business Men's Association will be held this evening at the rooms in the Kirk and Clark building. Unfinished business will be taken up.

Engineer J. S. Morrow of the Pittsburgh Railways company stated that the work could at once be resumed and completed very soon on that section of the line which passes through Monongahela. The rails and material have arrived and it seems that there is nothing now that can interfere with the progress of the work.
